STORY WRITING

I Want to be a Queen

Many years ago when my dad was in hospital, I like to pretend I was a Queen. Somehow the white walls, the shiny floors and fresh smells made me believe I was in a palace. I imagined my favourite blue dress as a majestic, royal gown, followed by royal subjects. I thought of Dad's room as some throne room. To me, his big bed was a mighty throne. I liked that bed.

I used to climb up on that bed and snuggle up to Dad all the time. "When I grow up I want to be a Queen," I proudly announced. I was five years old and I knew I wanted to be a Queen, not a princess. I wanted a large beautiful Queendom to rule. Of course Dad played along nicely. He's always played along with my schemes. He would buy me ice cream after we play.

Fatalagi Aluni.

White Sunday

On White Sunday my friends and I will do poems from the Bible, dances and songs. We prepared food, cakes, ice cream and a lot of other things too. When it is the afternoon we will get ready for church. At night our priest buys cakes and ice cream for the children.

Christian Gatoloai.

I Want to be a Queen

If I were a Queen in the Pacific Islands I would use my power to help my people. My first mission would be to make sure no one is hungry. I would plant gardens all over the islands so everyone could have food to eat. The poor families wouldn't have to worry because they would have fresh fruits and vegetables every day.

For children who can't afford schooling, I would make education free. I believe every child should have a chance to learn no matter how much money they have. I would build new schools and give children uniforms and books so they can focus on their dreams. I'd also make sure families have clean water and homes that protect them from storms. As their Queen I would listen to people and make decisions to help everyone because a true Queen cares for all her people.

Leigha Brighthouse.

White Sunday

Next week Sunday will be White Sunday. I am going to do my memory verse in front of my parents and we are going to sing a song. I am going to read the Bible. The pastor reads the Bible every Sunday. After the service we are going to go and eat our to'ona'i at home. That will be the best Sunday ever.

Vaitoelau Tuatagaloa.

My Family's Plantation

My family has a big plantation. My father has a plantation and my uncle has a plantation too. There are cabbages, green peppers and many other types of vegetables, every day when it is sunny. There are many cows and many pigs in my family's plantation. Vegetables are good for your health. My Dad goes to our plantation to see if the animals are okay. My Dad like to feed the animals. My family really loves our plantation.

My Birthday Party

I really enjoyed my birthday party because I invited all my friends, cousins and my family. We had so much fun and especially a lot of food. My parents hired a jumping castle and we all enjoyed playing on it.

My Mom's friend baked my birthday cake and it was so delicious. We also had ice cream. I had many gifts from my friends. Those that I invited to the celebration were so nice. Everyone enjoyed it. Everything was so beautiful and I thank my parents for hosting my birthday party.

Leanne Aviata.

My Birthday Party

Today I'm having a birthday party after school. My friends and family will come. I have invited Sophie, Julia, Christopher, Robert, Talitua, Maoi and Charles. We will have pizza first and afterwards we will go to the movies and we will watch Deadpool and Wolverine. We will have so much fun and when the movie is over we will have my cake and I will open my presents.

Mauga Fruean

My Birthday

When I woke up in the morning my Mum surprised me with "Happy Birthday!" My parents said "Happy Birthday sweetheart." My Mum started to decorate and my Dad went to the shop to do shopping for my birthday, inviting all my friends, uncles, aunts and cousins. At around 12 noon all the decorations in the house were ready. My Dad cooked all different kinds of food. Dad also prepared a cake for my birthday. Everything was done then they called for the pastor to make a prayer and all my aunts, uncles, cousins and friends arrived on time.

I want to be a Queen

I want to be a queen when I grow up. I will rule cities, countries and villages. I will live in a castle with other royals. I will be crowned Queen at a young age. I will ride in carriages and ride on horses. I will have to obey a lot of rules if I want to be a Queen. I will wear expensive clothes and necklaces. My crown will also be very big. I will also sit on my throne and order people around like most Queens do. When I die my crown will be passed on to my daughter and down to many other generations later.

Julia Siitia.

I want to be a Queen

I want to be a Queen like Camilla and Elizabeth. They are the most beautiful Queens in the whole world that I've ever seen. They are kind, polite and nice to people. Speaking of them, I am going to pick one Queen because it is weird if you say them or they, so I pick Elizabeth, because my name is Elisapeta. If you spell it in English, you may find my name is Elizabeth. Back to where we were, oh right, I love how Elizabeth wears her dress. It is so pretty and it looks like she's wearing makeup. Guess what? She's not wearing any makeup at all! That's why God gave everyone a beautiful face. I mean, look at me and look at you. We are pretty. We don't need any makeup because we are all pretty.

Elisapeta Mataia.

White Sunday

White Sunday is just around the corner. On White Sunday children get to do the verses in front of their parents. My clothes and my friend's clothes are white. All my friends and I will get to do our verses in front of our parents and our church members. We will all go home afterwards. My verse is very long but the church members and my parents will love it, just like me.

Hailey Tialino.

White Sunday

On Sunday we will have White Sunday. We have a lot of things to do. Also I have to do a memory verse. I am so happy that I am doing my memory verse in front of the whole church. My mum is buying me a dress for White Sunday. This was the best day ever!

- Shiloh Siutaia.

White Sunday

Today I will go to Apia to shop. I will go to choose my puletasi. I will be happy this Sunday. I will get to say my verse in front of my parents and other children about a story as well as dance. I am so happy the 13th of October is White Sunday. I have a white puletasi and white shoes. The children and faletua clean the church and decorate it with balloons and an ie.

Dikaosune Te'o.

I want to be a King

When I become the ruler of a kingdom, I want it to be set in stone, that I was the greatest king in the history of that kingdom. They would prosper under my rule as king. The fields would be filled with crops and merchants would flock to the kingdom. With a bustling market each day, I watch from the towers of my castle. The sound of cascading water would bring me back to my coronation. When I take my final breath and take my last look at the world before finally passing away from old age, I would like there abouts to die and I'd think to myself; "Have I done enough for my people?" And I would die with my loved ones surrounding me

Christopher Aluni.

I Want to be a Queen

When I grow up I want to be a good Queen to my countrymen. I want to create peace between countries and amongst my people. I want to create better opportunities for my people to help build their lives in different capacities.

Firstly, I want to strengthen their spiritual connection with God. For God alone is peace. This will guide people to obey God's commandments and care for each other, whatever situation they are in.

Secondly, I want to provide better and good education for all ages. I believe quality education provides people with a better understanding and knowledge to do better jobs and businesses, to earn money for their families for food and to support their welfare.

Thirdly, I would develop people's capacities, by training to be professional people. I would provide enough resources to support them.

Lastly, I would empower our countrymen to end violence and live in harmony.

Palepa Perez.

My Birthday Party

At my birthday party my whole family came. My cousins, aunties, uncles, grandma and my grandpa came too. We all gathered around to sing Happy Birthday. I blew out the candles and we had pizza, cake, cupcakes, ice-cream and freshly baked cookies made by my aunts and uncles. I had a really great time, dancing the whole time. They all wished and sang me happy birthday. We played a lot of card games, board games and even online games, like Roblox and Stickman party. These games made me happy during my birthday party because I got to play with my family. Sometimes I invite my friends and sometimes I don't because I put family first. I love my family and they make everything better, especially my birthday party. Let me tell you that's what I would call the best birthday party ever!
